1. LEAD: a heavy metal. Lead names a metal here, pronounced to rhyme with bed. The verb lead rhymes with bead.

2. WIND: moving air. Here, wind means moving air. The verb wind, as in wind a clock, has a different pronunciation.

3. BOW: the front of a boat. The bow is the front of a boat. Bow can also be a verb describing a gesture.

4. TEAR: rip or pull something apart. Tear the paper means rip it. The noun tear has a different pronunciation.

5. ROW: a line of things beside each other. A neat row is an orderly line. Row can also mean an argument, with a different pronunciation.

6. CLOSE: shut something. Close the box is an instruction to shut it. Close meaning nearby sounds different at the end.

7. MINUTE: extremely small. Minute means very small here, with stress on the second syllable. It does not mean a unit of time.

8. PRESENT: a gift. A birthday present is a gift. Present can also be a verb, with different stress.
